

Hi Andy,

I owned a moving business, which failed as a result of high gas prices and the economy. This caused me to get behind in my payments. It also forced me into bankruptcy to protect myself from creditors. I didn't want both a bankruptcy and a foreclosure on my record but didn't think I had any choice but to just let my house go into foreclosure.

After all of the bank fees and some work that the house needed I owed much, much more than the house could even be sold for.

When I talked to you all I wanted was to get out of foreclosure so I could restart my life and focus on taking good care of my 2 year old daughter.

Thank you Andy for working out everything with my Homecomings Financial so that the house could be sold and the sheriff sale avoided. The deal had a lot surprises for both of us but you worked everything out with persistence. The outcome was definitely better than expected.

I appreciate the moving money you gave go me. This house is now out of my life and I have been able to enroll in nursing school and am looking forward to a great future with my daughter.

Sincerely,

Nicolle M.
